

Turbulent/ Boundaries

Poetry. The Caseg-Fedi, the Celtic harvest horse, and the ancient Goddess-centered ceremonies of August preside over this sequence by Anglo-Welsh poet David Annwn. Turbulent layers: languages of conflicting technologies, nations, and claims on human consciousness push at their boundaries. This is felt poetry, and poetry sounded in syllable and phrase and passage ... a poetry of the intelligence -- Jeremy Hooker. Saddlestapled chapbook.

The laminar boundary is a very smooth flow, while the turbulent boundary layer contains swirls or eddies.
