

I will live. My Children need me.: I BEAT CANCER

Carmie Brady faced certain death at the birth of her first child and again at age 35 when she was diagnosed with a rare form of breast cancer and given two months to live. Through her determination to live for her three young children, Carmie overcame terminal cancer and lived cancer free for almost twenty years. Carmie was the recipient of many miracles during her lifetime and has become the instrument through which many miracles have taken place after her passage into eternal life. If you or a loved one are staring death in the face or are suffering from serious illness; if you feel that you cannot cope with the situation in which you find yourself; if you have lost faith in God or your fellow human beings; if you feel like the world is sitting on your shoulders; this book is a must read.
